Communists Are Charged With Inciting Prisoner Riots

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The senior United Nations truce negotiator today charged the Communists with responsibility for Red prisoner of war riots and for continuing "a bloody and profitless war."

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison accused the Red delegates at a fruitless 22-minute session of directing "your captured personnel at Kojie Island to endanger their lives to further your nefarious schemes."

Hundred of captured Reds have been killed or wounded on Kojie in Communist-led riots.

The key issue blocking a truce is the U. N. stand that no prisoner be forcibly repatriated. Only 70,000 of 169,000 captured Reds have expressed willingness to return to Red rule.

"Incomprehensible" Harrison said refusal of the Reds to accept this stand was incomprehensible. He added:

"You must realize that you are choosing between an honorable armistice and the continuation of a bloody and profitless conflict."

North Korean Gen. Nam Il replied in stiffened tones. He accused the U. N. of "incessant atrocities" and "slaughter" of war prisoners. It was the first time in five days he had repeated these charges.

Nam brushed aside Harrison's suggestion that a recess be held to give the Reds "time to reconsider your untenable decision." Nam II said he wanted to meet again tomorrow. Harrison agreed to meet at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Monday, EST).

Smash Artillery Attack
SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Infantrymen of the U. S. 45th Division today smashed an artillery-supported Chinese attack on a hill formation on the Western Front. The five-day-old battle has cost the Reds more than 1,000 casualties.

The reinforced Americans knocked back about 750 Chinese in a bitter seven-hour scrap. The Reds' objective was the bottom part of a T-shaped hill west of Chorwon. U. S. troops hold three knobs of the hill.

Fighting also continued at a stepped-up pace at other friction spots on the 155-mile front. There were brisk clashes yesterday near Panmunjom, Korangpo and Yonchon in the West; around Kumhwa, Kimsong and the Pukhan River in the center, and near the Punch Bowl in the East.

U. S. Eighth Army staff officers have offered no explanation of the stepped-up fighting, the toughest of the year.

American Sabre jet pilots reported three Communist jets destroyed and one damaged in two fights yesterday south of the Manchurian border.

Second Lt. James Low of Sausalito, Calif., only six months out of pilot school, shot down one and became America's 17th jet ace with a total of five MIG kills. He has been in Korea only six weeks.

Sunday Hottest Day This Year
Thermometers at The Gettysburg Times weather station only made official what everyone already knew—that Sunday was the hottest day so far this year with its official maximum reading of 94 degrees.

But in addition to setting a new heat mark for 1952, Sunday heat made it the hottest day since August 11 when the mercury climbed to 95 degrees and the hottest June 15 since 1925 when the high here was 98 degrees. On the same date in 1913 the maximum reading was 95 degrees but no other June 15 readings can top yesterday's record here.

A year ago, the records show, Gettysburg enjoyed a comfortable day with a high reading of 74 degrees. Sunday's high equalled the high for June of last year. The mark was set June 3, 1951.

The highest previous reading so far this was a 92 degrees on June 6. Saturday's high was only 87 degrees. Unofficial reading of 100 degrees and above were reported here Sunday afternoon.

5,952 Visitors Over Week End

Despite the severe heat Gettysburg played host to 5,952 visitors Saturday and Sunday according to travel figures announced by John Riddle, superintendent of the Gettysburg National Cemetery.

On Saturday there were 2,800 visitors in cars and 104 in three buses, with 100 guided trips for a total of 2,904.

On Sunday there were 2,996 visitors in passenger cars, 52 in two buses and 107 guided trips.

RUTH ANN SWOPE BECOMES BRIDE OF F. A. RODGERS

Miss Ruth Ann Swope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Franklin Swope Sr., Gettysburg R. 2, became the bride of Frederick Alan Rodgers, grandson of Mrs. Charles E. Weikert, 69 E. Middle St., at a double ring ceremony Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the St. James Lutheran Church.

MRS. RODGERS

with the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor, assisted by the Rev. Jacob H. Hollinger, Washington, D. C., great-uncle of the bride, as the officiating clergymen.

Richard B. Shade, Gettysburg, was the organist. Jack W. Enteline, Dayton, Pa., fraternity brother of the groom, sang "At Dawn" and "I Love Thee," by Grieg, and "The Lord's Prayer."

The pews were decorated with white ribbons and a white carpet was placed in the aisle. The altar was banked with ferns, flowers and candelabra.

Attended By Sister
The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a full-length gown fashioned with a lace bodice over satin, with long sleeves tapering over the wrists and an illusion neckline, a nylon tulle skirt featuring a handkerchief-point design with a satin under-skirt, ending in a long train. Her veil of nylon tulle was attached to the crown of her hair.

MODEL PLANE CONTEST HELD
Donald Walter, 30 E. Middle St., Hanover, a member of the Gettysburg Model Airplane Club, took top honors in the club's first contest Sunday afternoon at the flying circles in the Recreation Field. Walter topped first place prizes in the stunt, combat and team-race events.

Richard Little, another Hanover member, took second place in stunt and third place in combat and team-race. Paul "Bud" Walter, Gettysburg, placed third in stunt and second in combat and team-race.

First place honors in the beauty event went to Tim Robinson, a Gettysburg College student who resides in Spring Grove. Second place was taken by Charles Haner of Gettysburg and third place was awarded to John Pitzer, also of Gettysburg.

The "pooby" prize for the best smash-up was won by Bill Bream of Gettysburg.

Approximately 200 persons attended the contest which was held from 12 to 5 p. m. Profits from a refreshment stand operated by the club will be used to help purchase trophies for the club's invitational meet to be held in August.

The club's membership list remains open and anyone interested in joining the group is invited to attend the meetings held the first and third Mondays of each month in the clubhouse at the rear of Gilbert's Hobby Shop, Steinwehr Ave.

LEAVES FOR CAMP
Jack Bream, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Bream, left this morning for Camp Susquehannock, near Binghamton, N. Y., where he will serve as Counselor. This will be his third summer at the camp. He was accompanied by his father who will return Tuesday.

DIANE BAIRD IS WED ON SUNDAY TO VICTOR V. RE

Miss Bette Diane Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daniel Baird, Gettysburg R. 4, became the bride of Victor Vincent Re, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Re, Seven Stars, at a ceremony performed in the Gettysburg Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. Herman Beatty, pastor of the Great Conewago Presbyterian Church, Huntstown, who was assisted by the Rev. Clyde R. Brown, pastor of the local church.

The altar was banked with palms, mixed white flowers and candelabra, and the pews were tied with pale blue and lavender streamers. Phillip E. McGuire, church organist, presided at the organ with the traditional wedding marches and accompanied the soloist, Donald Bollinger, Gettysburg College student, who sang "Through the Years," "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "O Promise Me."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ankle-length gown of French imported lace and satin, featuring a jewel neckline, tight-fitting bodice buttoned to the waist, a full skirt over crinoline, and long lace sleeves tapering over the wrists. Her fingertip veil of illusion net, edged with French lace, was attached to a scalloped coronet of seed pearls. Her jewelry consisted of a strand of pearls worn by the groom's mother at her wedding. She wore white satin opera pumps and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Lighter Maid Of Honor
Miss Nancy Lighter, Gettysburg, the maid of honor, was attired in a full-length gown of white organdie over lavender taffeta, designed with a strapless bodice over which she wore a tight-fitting jacket of organdie. Her colonial bouquet was composed of pink snapdragons, carnations and roses and she wore a matching headdress of fresh flowers.

Miss Linda Kookan, the bride's attendant, wore a white dress.

COUNTY WILL BE REPRESENTED AT GOP DINNER

Adams County will be represented at the Republican Unity dinner to be held Thursday at Zemo Mosque, Harrisburg, John H. Basehore, county chairman, said in announcing that a delegation of at least ten countians will be in attendance.

United States Senator John Bricker, of Ohio, and Governor John Davis Lodge, of Connecticut, will be the speakers at the dinner which is expected to be attended by more than 1,000 Republicans from the center section of the state.

A similar dinner will be held in Philadelphia at the same time while the one in Pittsburgh, for the western part of the state, will take place in July.

$100 Per Plate
Former President Herbert Hoover was originally announced as the speaker at the Harrisburg dinner but it became necessary that he cancel the engagement.

The dinners are sponsored by the Republican Finance Committee of Pennsylvania of which P. T. Sharples, of Philadelphia, is chairman.

Tickets are $100 per plate the proceeds over the cost of the dinner accruing to the finance committee for the fall campaign.

Chairman Basehore has asked that any additional Adams countians desiring to attend the dinner communicate with him so arrangements can be made for transportation and for the procurement of tickets.

Wm. L. Keefauver Gets Law Degree

William L. Keefauver, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Keefauver, Springs Ave., was graduated from the law school of New York University on Wednesday. He was on the dean's honor list for the last year.

Since his graduation from Pennsylvania State College in 1948, he has been employed in the Patent Division of the Bell Telephone Laboratories at Murray Hill, N. J. He attended law school classes at night.

He was graduated from Gettysburg High School in 1941 and served three years with the Army Air Force, a year and a half of that time in Greenland. His Penn State degree was in electrical engineering.

SMALL FIRE BUT 12 COMPANIES ANSWER ALARM

It was only a small fire—damage totaled $400—in New Oxford Saturday evening, but there were enough firemen there to take care of a general alarm conflagration in a large city.

The New Oxford firemen were called at 6:30 o'clock to extinguish a fire in an 8 by 10 frame smokehouse at the Francis Rabine property, 209 Carlisle St., New Oxford.

The flames were licking against the Rabine house only six feet away, and the firemen, using the one truck left in the town, decided to call Irishtown to secure their second truck, which, with six firemen, was entered in the Irishtown Fire Company parade.

Dozen Companies Respond
New Oxford received a big response to its call. New Oxford's second truck took off for the scene of the blaze, so did Irishtown and so did about 11 other companies which were in Irishtown for the parade.

New Oxford Fire Chief Eugene "Johnny" Overbaugh reported "We had all of Carlisle St. sitting full of fire trucks, some were here even from Maryland. Irishtown had had a parade of fire trucks, and we had one, too."

By the time all the firemen arrived the blaze was under control, but the visiting firemen remained for awhile to watch New Oxford in operation.

Chief Overbaugh said that the Rabines had burned some rubbish in a fireplace in the smokehouse earlier in the afternoon and it is believed that a spark ignited several bales of paper in the shed. Damage to the smokehouse was $250, the chief said. Damage to the composition brick singles on the rear of the Rabine home, damaged by flames and smoke, was estimated at $150.

900 AT ANNUAL C. H. MUSSELMAN COMPANY PICNIC

Nine hundred regular employees of the Biglerville and Gardners plants and the company farms together with a number of guests and retired employees enjoyed the sixth annual company picnic Saturday afternoon and evening at the South Mountain Fairgrounds.

The Main Office softball team repeated its 1951 performance of winning the company softball title with a 10-3 victory over the Farmers team in the final playoffs.

In the preliminary games the Farms squad beat the Warehouse and Jelly Plant team by a score of 9 to 2 and the Biglerville Canning team was defeated by the Main Office team 7 to 6. Then the Farms team beat the Gardners Plant 3 to 1 to qualify for the final tilt.

The lineup for the final game follows for the Main Office champs: Harold Guise, rf; John C. Brown, p; Charles Bushey, 3b; Harry Geiselman, 1b; John Carroll, cf; Richard Pink, ss; Ray Finckoff, lf; Earl Crum, 2b; Elmer Hoke, c, and J. Henry Donahar, sf. Crum had pitched the office team to victory in its first game. The battery for the Farms team was Glen Slaybaugh Jr., pitcher, and Carey, catcher.

A. S. Stauffer In Charge
Allen S. Stauffer was general manager of the company softball team.

TRUCKS CRASH ON BALTIMORE HIGHWAY TODAY

Two trucks were damaged to the extent of $1,000 and an additional $200 damage to shrubbery and a sign was done this morning at 8:30 o'clock when the vehicles collided one-half mile south of here on the Baltimore Road.

State police reported Charles C. Hall, 16, of 88 N. Queen St., Littlestown, was driving a Chevrolet truck north and had pulled off the highway preparatory to making a left turn. A Brockway truck and trailer, also being driven north by Joe Calvin McCoy, 32, Baltimore, collided with the Hall-operated truck as the latter attempted to make his left turn. No one was injured but each truck was damaged to the extent of $500 and shrubbery and a sign at the Battlefield swimming pool were damaged. Mrs. J. B. Garrity, Dundalk, Md., is the owner of the pool.

Woman Is Injured
One person was treated at the Warner Hospital for minor injuries received in an auto collision Saturday at 8:50 p. m. at the York Springs intersection.

According to state police, Edward B. Hoy, 27, Camp Hill, was driving north on Route 15 and put his car into second gear upon approaching the intersection. He skidded into the path of a south-bound car driven by Clarence Peck, 64, Arlington, Va.

Mrs. Peck was treated at the hospital for contusions of the right chest, right arm and hip. Damage to the autos totaled $1,250.

State police are continuing investigations into both accidents.

$365 Damage When Two Cars Collide
No one was injured but damage totaled $365 when two cars collided on the Lincoln Highway, five miles east of here Saturday morning at 9:05 o'clock. State police from Gettysburg are investigating.

The police report showed that cars operated by Sgt. Berwyn Alfred Robertson, 23, Detroit, and Melvin E. Gulden, 19, Biglerville R. 2, collided while both were traveling east on the highway. Gulden attempted a left turn toward Huntstown at Gulden's Station as Robertson attempted to pass him.

Damage to the Gulden car was placed at $165 while Robertson's damage was set at $200.

6TH SON IN SERVICE

Joseph L. Barr, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Barr, of Elizabethtown, formerly of Gettysburg, is the sixth son to enter the armed forces. He recently enlisted in the navy, T-56, Martin A. Barr was killed in May while serving with the 8th Air Force in Germany. Howard Barr was recently discharged. Paul is serving on an aircraft carrier in Korean waters. Edwin is stationed at Key West, Florida. Robert served in World War II.

FIREMEN WIN ANOTHER PRIZE
Gettysburg's firemen with 43 in the line of march and a "three drummer band" won first prize of $75 in the Irishtown Fire Company parade Saturday evening at Irishtown.

The company had originally been scheduled to be accompanied by a band, but when the number of musicians who appeared for the parade was too small for a regular band, the company marched with only three drummers. The three were enough, however, to permit the firemen to win top honors for having the most uniformed men in line with music and equipment.

Other Winners
The Parkville Fire Company won $50 for having the most men in line without musical accompaniment. Pikeville, Md., won $25 for traveling the longest distance. The prize for the most members in line went to the Eureka Fire Company, Stewartstown, Conewago Fire Company, Edge Grove, won $15 for the oldest apparatus in line.

John Sneringer was chief marshal for the two division parade headed by the New Oxford High School band directed by Paul A. Harner. The second division was headed by the Hesson-Sluder American Legion drum corps of Taneytown. Judges for the parade were Albert J. Weaver, former McSherrytown burgess; New Oxford Burgess Stewart Walker and Fred Klunk, New Oxford.

The Pennsylvania Department of the United Spanish War Veterans and its Auxiliary officially opened their annual conventions here this afternoon after a week end of activity that included annual sessions of the Sons of Spanish War Veterans and the Daughters of '98, the annual memorial service Sunday night and an informal joint "welcoming" meeting this morning.

Arthur S. Thomas, Philadelphia machinist, was re-elected department president of the Sons of the Spanish War Veterans Sunday morning. Mrs. Edna Mae Perlinger, Pittsburgh, was elected department captain of the Daughters of '98.

Both the Sons and Daughters organizations opened their annual conventions Saturday afternoon at the IOOF hall on Chambersburg St.

Saturday evening at the Shetter House 69 members of the Sons and Daughters held their annual joint banquet. Among the guests who spoke were: Daniel Bowen, Washington, D. C., national president of the Sons; Mrs. Pauline Eckbold, Camden, N. J., national captain of the Daughters of '98; James Eames, Erie, state commander of the USWW; Mrs. Mae Jenkins, Pittsburgh, department president of the auxiliary, and H. J. Goodman, Philadelphia, past national commander of the Sons.

Donation Ducks Out As Firemen Close In

The Gettysburg Fire Company has one floating asset for its July festival, but the members haven't figured out yet how to cash in on it.

Among the donations given the firemen were a number of ducks. One of the ducks left for parts unknown when Assistant Fire Chief Donald Staub and Policeman Daniel Miller tried to place it in a pen. Now the duck is residing near the Carl Oyer residence, but it refuses to have any confidence in men.

And as a result the firemen have a problem in how to make use of their elusive gift.

Stewart Tent Will Mark Anniversary

The third anniversary program of the Salome Stewart Tent will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the GAR post rooms on E. Middle St.

Mrs. Emma Trostle, assisted by Mrs. Doris Settle, will be in charge of the anniversary program. Mrs. Helen Goldsmith and Mrs. Mary Felix will be in charge of table arrangement. Mrs. Dorothy Martin will be in charge of publicity.

Invitations to attend have been extended to the York and Hanover camps as well as to all members of the Salome Stewart Tent, the president, Mrs. Bess Kapp reported.

Members may bring guests provided they bring table service for themselves and guests.

VIOLIN RECITAL GIVEN

The violin class of Mrs. Guillermo Barriaga gave a recital at Mrs. Barriaga's home in York Springs on Friday evening. Families and friends of the pupils were guests. Those participating were Peggy Ann Jordan, Belva Cancell, Donna Reel, Molly Lighter, Nancy Britcher and Rosemary Wyle. Barbara Barriaga played a piano solo and Antonia Barriaga played a piano number. Mrs. Barriaga played several numbers by request of the guests. A social hour was enjoyed after the recital.

GIANTS BLOW 11-RUN LEAD TO CARDINALS

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Imagine a big league baseball team dissipating an 11-0 lead. Sounds incredible, doesn't it?

It happened, though, yesterday and by none other than the National League Champion New York Giants.

Sunday produced lots of excitement as the New York Yankees increased their first place lead in the American League with two victories over the Cleveland Indians, the Boston Braves chilled the red hot Chicago Cubs with a double defeat and the Cincinnati Reds won their first game of the season from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Maglie Routed

Nothing, however, matched the St. Louis Cardinals' feat of overcoming the Giants' 11-0 lead to win, 14-12.

The Polo Grounders gained a split by winning the second game, 3-0.

The Redbirds, held runless for four innings, routed ace Sal Maglie with a seven-run fifth. Three more runs cut the Giants margin to one run. Solly Hemus' leadoff homer off George Spencer in the eighth tied the score at 11-11, and Slaughter's single off loser Max Lanier in the same inning finally put the Cards in front, 12-11.

A's Lose Doubleheader

The Yankees thrashed the Indians, 8-2 and 4-3.

The second-place Red Sox fought back for a split with a second game 3-2 triumph after Saul Rogovin had pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 7-2 win.

The St. Louis Browns won their first doubleheader of the season, whipping the Athletics twice, 6-3 and 7-6 in 11 innings.

Washington Splits

Detroit and Washington split. Home runs by Vic Fertz, Gerry Priddy, Fred Hatfield and Pat Mullin won the first game 6-3 for the Tigers. Walt Masterson spaced eight hits for a 4-2 Washington win in the nightcap.

In other games Cincinnati scored seven in the seventh to beat the Braves, 7-4; the Braves dropped the Cubs twice, 4-1, 2-0, and the Pirates and Phils split, the Bucs winning the first, 6-0, the Phils the nightcap, 6-4.

Kump Loses 2-0 Verdict At York

Ronnie Kump, Cashtown, former Gettysburg High School athlete, dropped a 2-0 decision Friday night as he hurled for Allentown against York on the latter's field in an Interstate League game.

Kump broke into professional baseball after being signed by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1950. He was assigned that year to the Lebanon farm team of the Cardinals and turned in a very creditable 11-5 record with the Class D outfit. He had an earned run average of 2.97, fanned 82 and walked 60. Last year he dropped out of baseball but this year reported for spring training.

According to H. Ralph Muehle, publicity director for the Cardinals in St. Louis, Kump is regarded as a fine major league prospect.

Kump allowed York to hit six hits, struck out five and walked two at York. The Interstate League has a Class B classification.

Holy Cross Meets Missouri Today

OMAHA (AP)—Holy Cross sluggers challenge unbeaten Missouri tonight for the National Collegiate Baseball Championship.

With two smashing victories yesterday, the Crusaders narrowed the NCAA tournament field to themselves and the Missourians. Holy Cross eliminated Western Michigan 15-3 in the afternoon and came back last night to oust Penn State, 15-4, from the double elimination tournament.

Holy Cross had been beaten once by Missouri—and if the Tigers, who haven't lost a game in the tournament, win tonight, they'll take the championship. If Holy Cross wins, another game tomorrow night will be necessary to decide the winner.

The first Missouri-Holy Cross clash is still the talk of the tournament fans. The Tigers won, 1-0, though Jackie Lonergan pitched a one-hitter for Holy Cross and that hit didn't figure in the Missouri run.

Interstate

By The Associated Press

The pendulum swung the other way again and this time left the Wilmington Blue Rocks atop the Interstate Baseball League standings by a scanty three percentage points.

The Blue Rocks, 1951 governor's cup champs, regained the lead yesterday from the Hagerstown Braves, their chief rival, after spending one day in second place.

Wilmington split a doubleheader with Lancaster, winning 11-5 and losing 6-4, as the Braves were edged in a slugfest, 14-13 by Sunbury. A second Sunbury-Hagers town game was halted by the Pennsylvania curfew, tied 6-6 in eight innings.

The Braves held the loop lead for almost a month before losing it to the Delaware team late last month. Then after regaining it they lapsed into second again last week.

In other Sunday games the slumping Harrisburg Senators found the range and dumped York twice, 7-2, and 10-5 and Allentown took a singleton from Salisbury, 5-3.

Eastern League

By The Associated Press

Right-hander Charley (Buzz) Bowers of Schenectady won a game and lost one yesterday—and so did the rest of the Eastern League.

The Class A circuit's eight clubs split four doubleheaders on a hot Sunday that saw the Albany Senators preserve their game-and-a-half lead over the Reading Indians.

George Hazen won his ninth game in 10 decisions in hurling the Senators to a 4-3 victory over Schenectady in the opener, but the Blue Jays rebounded with an 8-5 triumph in the abbreviated afterpiece.

Reading drubbed the Elmira Pioneers, 18-9, then lost, 8-2. The Hartford Chiefs shut out Binghamton, 8-0, after the Triplets had taken the first game, 2-0. Scranton edged Williamsport, 1-0, after dropping the opener, 5-1.

Bowers departed for a pinch hitter with the Jays trailing, 4-1, in the eighth inning of the first game. In the nightcap he relieved starter Ronnie Rozinski with the score tied, 5-5, pitched two scoreless innings and gained credit for the win.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting—Emos Slaughter, Cardinals—Drove in five runs with a homer, double and single as the Cardinals overcame an 11-0 deficit to defeat the Giants, 14-12, in the first game of a doubleheader.

Pitching—Max Surkont, Braves—Hurled a two-hitter as the Braves blanked the Cubs, 2-0 after Boston also had won the first game of a doubleheader, 4-1.

WIN SECOND PLACE

Golden Lady, owned by Wilson Clapsaddle, Gettysburg, placed second in the open western event at the eighth annual Chambersburg Horse Show over the week end.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four dam and reservoir projects for flood control and other purposes in Pennsylvania have been recommended by the Army Corps of Engineers. Cost of the project is estimated at $5 million dollars.

The recommendations were made to Lt. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, by the Baltimore District engineer and the North Atlantic Division engineer.

MAGLIE LOSES 4TH STRAIGHT

NEW YORK (AP)—The mystery of Sal Maglie's decline deepens with every game the once invincible New York Giants' righthander pitches.

Yesterday's devastating 14-12 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals in which Maglie unbelievably blew an 11-0 lead, made it four straight games that Sal (The Barber) was shelled from the mound. Previously, he had run off nine consecutive triumphs and seemed on the way to his peak year. His record is 9-2.

Manager Leo Durocher is at a loss to explain Sal's sudden slump.

Needs One Good Game

Sal thinks he knows the answer but is not certain.

"It's a funny thing," he said yesterday. "Apparently I pitch better when I have trouble with my arm."

"My arm is in perfect shape now for the first time this season."

"It can only be one thing," he said. "I am not following through properly."

"Well," he said philosophically, "I'm due to get going again. All I need is one good game under my belt and I'll be okay again."

Seybold missed only a single target as he beat out a field of 214 marksmen yesterday to win the major event of the four-day tourney. William Penrose of Chester was second with 196 and Harold C. Jones of Fawn Grove, York County, third with 194.

Charles Alexander of Rohrerstown, Lancaster County, won the men's 100-target handicap event after finishing in a three-day tie Saturday with George Best of Pittsburgh and Bert Maser of Irwin.

Maser was eliminated on the first shootoff yesterday while Alexander blasted 24 on the second to Best's 23.

Shirley Orndorff of Uniontown won the women's handicap shoot while Orville Eberly of Uniontown took the 23 to 25-yard handicap event.

NATIONAL OPEN WON BY BOROS; HOGAN IS THIRD

DALLAS (AP)—Julius Boros, the Connecticut Yankee who ended Ben Hogan's dominance of the nation's golf, was en route to New England today for a reunion with relatives while most of his colleagues along the tournament trail moved into Louisville, Ky., for the National PGA.

Boros took a check for $4,000, the loot gained in winning the national open here Saturday, with him. He shot one-over-par 281 for the 72 holes to snare the title with a four-stroke edge.

Big Jules won't play in the PGA for the simple reason that he is not eligible—he has been a professional less than three years and you have to be one five years to get into that tournament.

Hogan Carded 286

Only one of the top four men in the Open will play at Louisville. Hogan, whose 286 for 72 holes placed third and lost him the title for the first time in four tries, won't play any more tournaments this year. Johnny Bulla, who was fourth with 287, is passing up Louisville.

Ed Oliver, golf's round man who finished second with 285, is due to play in the PGA.

Boros next tournament appearance will be the Motor City Open in Detroit July 3-6. He wasn't invited to play in the Toledo Inverness four-ball tournament next week because no one apparently thought of his winning the National Open.

A Bit Of History About Your Own Adams County

This is the seventh in a series of historical talks given over Radio station WGET by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, Adeline Sager professor of history at Gettysburg College, on some of the outstanding events and interesting episodes in the development of Adams County.

Older residents of the county will recall that in November every year for many years one of the most important events of county interest took place. This was the annual county teachers' institute. It was important not only for its educational value but also for its social and indeed its economic value, at least to the businessmen of Gettysburg.

It was the highlight of the program of county school operation, and it was a social event of real significance, not only to the teachers attending, but also to the young people in or about Gettysburg. Before the days of the automobile it meant that most of the teachers of the county would be in Gettysburg for about three full days, and so the program was planned to provide not only instruction and inspiration in relation to the work of teaching, but also entertainment and an opportunity for sociability in the evenings.

Exchange Of Ideas
It also provided opportunity for the informal exchange of ideas and for the renewal of acquaintanceship. When, through the use of the automobile, many of those in attendance preferred to return home after the close of the afternoon sessions, the social activities in the evenings lost their appeal, and when other and better means for the improvement and inspiration of the teachers came into vogue, the annual institute was transformed into the present one day meeting.

This has come to be strictly for business, unless the banquet at noon be considered primarily a social function. Teachers now mingle regularly with their conferees. A visit to Gettysburg is no longer a treat. Other and better social diversions are available and more efficient means of teacher training and improvement are now easily enjoyed.

Many Remember Affairs
However, there are still many who well remember these institutes and their important place in the life of the county, even though they themselves were only pupils in the public schools of the day who had, therefore, three days' holiday, while the teacher was in attendance at institute.

Because of the real value and the great significance of the institute, much credit for what is presented here goes to the late J. Howard Wert, who some years ago included information on this subject in his useful series of historical articles, "Old Time Notes of Adams County," which were published in the Star and Sentinel through 1905 and 1906. It will be noticed that this was the first county teachers' meeting and had therefore an entirely different kind of program than the highly developed and lengthy meeting of later time.

It was 20 years before the common school system of Pennsylvania which had been set up under the Free School Law of 1834 was firmly established. These 20 years must not be considered to have been without the marks of progress, but in the nature of the case, much pioneering work had to be done, and many desirable things had to wait more propitious times.

Lacked Supervision
One of the weaknesses in the system was the lack of supervision over teachers and their work.

Each school board was a law unto itself for all practical purposes. Hence the schools of the state, and even of any particular county, differed vastly according as the quality of the local boards differed. Therefore it was proposed that the office of County Superintendent of Schools be established in every county, to have general supervisory powers over the schools of the whole county. This was not intended to do away with the local control through the local boards, but rather to standardize school procedures, especially in the selection of teachers.

The proper legislation was passed and the office was created in 1854, with the county superintendent to be elected by the local boards of the several counties, in convention assembled, but under the authority of the state superintendent of common schools, since his salary was to be paid by the state.

David Willis Elected
The first convention of local school directors for the choice of a superintendent in Adams County was held on June 5, 1854. At first five names were placed in nomination but one received only one vote on the first ballot, and withdrew, another withdrew after the third ballot, still another after the fifth so that on the sixth ballot an election was made with David Willis receiving 54 votes and the Rev. H. Aurand, 33.

Mr. Willis, who was later to become a leading citizen of Gettysburg, and indeed famous as the host of President Lincoln on November 18 and 19, 1863, was then but 23 years of age. He had been graduated from Pennsylvania College in 1851, and had studied law for three years in the office of Thaddeus Stevens, who had removed from Gettysburg to Lancaster in 1842.

He began the practice of law in 1854 and was willing to take on the work of the county superintendent, probably until his law practice assured him a living. He served two years in the office and resigned in 1856, at a salary of $300 a year. Mr. Wert says of Mr. Willis:

"He filled the office faithfully and well. Calm, resourceful, energetic, self-polished, resolute, he brought a measureable degree of order out of much that was chaotic. He probably did all that any man then living in Adams County could have accomplished in that period. Had a weaker or less faithful man occupied the position during those initial and experimental years of the superintendency, the result would have been recorded in disaster to the schools of Adams for decades to follow. In administering the duties of the superintendency he and every similar official in the state had the active and valuable assistance of that noble man, Henry C. Hickok."

First Communication
Mr. Willis' first public official communication, which also gives a very good idea of what he conceived his work to be, was in the form of a half column announcement in the county newspapers in July, 1854. He said: "In order to give more general satisfaction, and that directors may conveniently, and without incurring expense, be present at the examinations of their teachers, I will attend in every district of the county and examine the applicants for winter schools in the presence of its directors."

"Those teachers desiring certificates for teaching summer and fall schools will come to my office to be examined, bringing with them testimonials from the directors and others of their good moral character. During the winter I will visit the schools in each district, and give such direction in the art of teaching as may seem to be required and present an annual report to the public respecting their condition. I will do everything in my power to render advice and assistance to the directors, and earnestly desire their cooperation in the noble work of elevating the profession of teaching, and improving the schools."

Calls Teachers' Meeting
In order further to promote the interests of the schools under his direction, Mr. Willis decided to call a general meeting of all teachers in order to consider their common problems. He doubtless had in mind the example of the State Teachers Association which had been organized in Harrisburg in 1852.

According to Mr. Willis' call, the meeting, this first county teachers' institute, met in Gettysburg on Saturday, November 12, 1854. It convened in the lecture room of St. James Lutheran Church, and held both morning and afternoon sessions. Fifty teachers attended. The officers elected for the day were Samuel Durban, Esq., of Mount Joy Twp., president; George Hagerman and David Curran, secretaries. The business committee consisted of C. H. Austin, Dr. J. A. Swope, Rebecca Wright, Maria C. Thompson and T. R. Ditterline.

Mr. Austin was a New Englander who taught in the little brick schoolhouse, in Gettysburg on Carlisle St., just north of the present railroad tracks. The others were natives of the county, and some of them teachers of many years' standing.

The Hon. Thomas H. Burrows of Lancaster, who had been the first state superintendent of common schools, and who was again in 1860 to serve in that office, and who is reckoned as one of the real founders of the Pennsylvania free school system, made the principal address. Before the convention adjourned election of the following permanent officers was held: President, David Willis; vice president, Baltzer Snyder; recording secretary, M. F. Thomas; corresponding secretary, Miss Maria C. Thompson, and treasurer, C. H. Austin.

Sought Experienced Lecturers
The convention also appointed a committee to procure from time to time experienced lecturers. This committee consisted of C. H. Austin, David Curran, R. A. Lytle and the Misses M. D. McClellan and H. E. McCreary. This first convention is a landmark in the development of the county school system, but this first step was not followed immediately by a similar meeting. The next one appears to have been held some years later in the school building on High St. in Gettysburg, whilst J. K. McIlhenny was county superintendent.

After several attempts to put the county institute on a permanent

Student Graduates With Perfect Marks

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—A Reading youth will be graduated from Lehigh University today as the second student in the school's 87-year history to attain a perfect scholastic average.

Bruce L. Reinhart, Phi Beta Sigma president and cross-country team captain, holds a record of straight A's for four years as a mathematics major.

The only other student to attain a perfect average at Lehigh was George R. Vogt, Newark, N. J., business administration student graduated in 1949.

Footling, success may be considered to have come with the sessions held in New Oxford in January, 1862. Since that time there has been no omission of similar general meetings of county teachers. However, it was not until 1897 that the county institutes came to be under the direct protection and encouragement of state legislation. One of the features of this legislation was the provision, which is still in effect, that teachers receive their salaries for days spent at such meetings, in the same way as if they were teaching in their schools on those days.

This is the eighth in a series of historical talks given over Radio station WGET by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, Adeline Sager professor of history at Gettysburg College, on some of the outstanding events and interesting episodes in the development of Adams County.

One of the most beautiful places in Adams County is the site of Conewago Chapel, near Edge Grove, and one of the most historic churches in the county is the Church of the Sacred Heart which dominates the place. It is also the most artistically decorated church, not only in this county, but also in this whole general area.

Because people of every creed may take a proper degree of pride in the presence of this lovely shrine of the Christian Faith in our county, it is appropriate that we recall the services of the builder of the original part of the present building, the Rev. Fr. James Pellenz of the Society of Jesus, who died on November 21, 1799.

For much of my information I am indebted to Anna Dill Gamble, of York, whose authentic writings have established the present popular understanding of the significance of this place and church.

Jesuits Were Interested

Because the section of our state and county in and about the site of Conewago Chapel was for a number of years in dispute between the Baltimore and the Penns. and because in 1727 John Digges received from Lord Baltimore a grant of 10,000 acres of land, known as Digges' Choice, lying in what is now part of York and Adams Counties, it was natural for Marylanders to have a vital interest in this area. Among those who had such an interest were the Jesuit fathers who were serving in Maryland.

The Jesuits were always concerned to carry the consolations of the Faith to outlying parts, whether to Indians to be newly evangelized or to members of the flock who moved into new areas of settlement. We do not know what first brought the Jesuit missionaries to the Conewago country but we do believe that the tradition that Father Joseph Gration of the society visited Conewago and there said mass as early as 1720 is true.

The tradition, which harmonizes with other well-known facts, further sets forth that the first mass was said under a giant oak tree in the depression just below the present church. Those for whose consolation it was offered were English and Irish Catholics of the neighborhood, and maybe even some Indians of the vicinity.

Buys "Mass House"

Father Gration and other visiting missionaries in the early 1720s are believed to have stayed at a stone house a quarter of a mile from the present church and there performed their priestly services. No one knows when or by whom it was built, but it was bought in the later 1720s by Robert Owings, an English Catholic, under a Maryland title.

This is the famous "mass house" of Conewago lore. Later, when all the boundary difficulties between the Baltimore and the Penns. were cleared up, this area was included in the recognized limits of Pennsylvania. Through the 1730s this "mass house" continued to serve the needs of the people of the Catholic faith whose numbers were increased by immigrants of German extraction who were pushing west of the Susquehanna through Pennsylvania, and settling the lower part of the present Adams County.

The authorities of the Maryland-Pennsylvania province soon realized that German priests would be needed to serve these later immigrants, the many who were expected to follow after them into this favored land. Accordingly, arrangements were made between the Society of Jesus in England and in Germany to send two German Jesuit priests to Pennsylvania in 1740.

Germans Saw Church

Father William Wappeler, one of the two sent, was the first specially assigned priest at Conewago. He built a long mission house, a combination of church and residence, in 1741, and dedicated it to St. Mary of the Assumption. There is another tradition that a log church had been built in the 1730s, as German settlers saw such a building as they passed through the settlement. This might easily have been the "mass house" and not a separate building dedicated to holy service alone.

For all practical purposes it seems that the institutional history of the Conewago Chapel began with the arrival of Father Wappeler and the dedication in 1741 of the building which he erected. The mission house was built as it was to escape the penal laws of the English government of that day, which forbade the public celebration of the mass. These same laws forbade the holding of title to lands by Catholic congregations, so that these titles were held in the name of individuals.

From the time of Father Wappeler and his successors until the War for Independence, the position of Roman Catholics, under English law, was perilous. This was particularly true for the Jesuits. However, nothing actually did disturb the quiet ministrations of the priests, and the congregation not only lived, but it grew and prospered.

Used Assumed Names

Father Wappeler remained at Conewago until 1748, when ill health compelled his return to Europe, where he lived until 1781. He was succeeded by Father Matthias Sittensberger, who was known as Father "Manners," because German Jesuits in Pennsylvania used to assume names for greater safety. He is said to have dressed like a Quaker, presumably for further protection.

In 1758 Father James Pellenz and Father Frambach arrived at Conewago from Germany and took over the work from Father Manners, who was probably transferred to Maryland, where he died in 1775.

Father Frambach was probably superior from 1758 until 1768, when he went to Frederick. Then Father Pellenz, who had been with him these ten years, became superior and remained in charge at Conewago until his death on November 21, 1799. The fact that there were two priests at Conewago during these ten years, and that the one was called "Superior" indicates that this was a center of ministration into far-flung parts.

During the time that Father Pellenz was superior, the Society of Jesus was suppressed throughout the world. But this made no change at Conewago and Father Pellenz and his assistants remained at their posts as parish priests, adopting secular standing. Later the Society of Jesus was restored to activity in the United States and the supervision of Conewago was assumed again by the order. This was continued until in 1901 the Jesuits passed over the care of Conewago to the bishop of the diocese of Harrisburg, and so for the past 51 years it has been in that status.

Builds New Church

The success of the War for Independence not only brought independence to the American people, but it also freed the Roman Catholic Church from the English penal laws. The days of prohibition to build a real church for Catholics were gone, and Father Pellenz immediately proceeded to pull down the old log mission house, which indeed had been enlarged and improved, to make way for the building of a true church. The work of building took two years and it was finished in 1787. In that year Father Pellenz had the joy of dedicating the church to the Most Sacred Heart of Our Lord, the first church dedicated under this title in North America.

The part built by Father Pellenz would be about one half of the present large structure and was of brown stone, without a spire. There is a beautiful tradition that the stone was carried to Conewago from the vicinity of East Berlin in carts loaned by the farmers of the Conewago settlement who walked bareheaded beside their horses for the 12 miles to be covered, out of reverence to the purpose for which the stones were to be used.

The stone was donated by Baron de Beelen-Berthoff, who was a resident of York County for 22 years, having originally come to America in 1785 as the representative of Emperor Joseph II of Austria to promote commerce with the new nation. He and his wife died of the effects of yellow fever in 1807, and are buried in the Conewago chapel graveyard.

Conewago Chapel was enlarged and embellished later. We pay tribute to the original builder by quoting Miss Gamble as follows:

Tribute To Priest

"For 40 years this was the life of Father Pellenz. The vast work that he accomplished can be estimated when we realize that his parish included not only all of Pennsylvania west of the Susquehanna River, but much of Western Maryland as well. He traveled on foot through this territory, following the Indian trails and carrying in a bundle, strapped to his back, altar stone, missal, chalice and vestments.

"On Sundays and Holy Days, he heard confessions from 6 o'clock in the morning sometimes until 12 or 1 o'clock. It was often 2 or 2:30 p.m. when mass was over. Sometimes he was unable to receive food even then, for there were always people waiting to take him on sick calls. He died at Conewago November 21, 1799, at the age of 72."

All honor to Father Pellenz, who served his day and generation so faithfully and so well. As we gaze from time to time on the beautiful lines of Conewago Chapel, let us be reminded of the devotion and sacrifice of him and also of so many like him who, forsaking comfort, family and position, helped to build this great land, and to bequeath it with precious things, not the least of which are our churches, the centers of true strength and inspiration in evil days and good.

As we say our prayers and acknowledge our thanks to God for His blessings, let us will remember that His direction of His faithful servants to build this church in the utmost parts of the earth was not given only to those of former days but is also spoken unto us.

Martin VanBuren was the first President to be born a citizen of the United States.

Looking Forward To Serve You

Tomorrow the veterans of our Company are looking forward to serve you... even after 25 to 55 years

THE CUMBERLAND CHAPTER QUARTER CENTURY CLUB

meets at its annual luncheon tomorrow

Below are employees who will be welcomed into the Quarter Century Club. They will receive gold watches and blue and gold Columbia Gas System service pins, representing the completion of 25 years of service.

Margaret Galbraith Gilbert L. Seeler
Catherine Steele

We know that you will join us in hearty congratulations to each of them. Among the Club's membership are those employees who will be awarded service pins... for completing 30, 35, 40 or even 45 years of helping natural gas serve you.

All of the Quarter Century Club members have given many loyal and faithful years in doing their jobs well. They have been good family people, good neighbors, good citizens and of course, good friends to many of you.

We are proud of them and their families. May they have many more long years of happiness with each other, with us, and with you.

Mulching Hailed As Vital Aid To All Garden Plants

Tomatoes should always be mulched to keep weeds down and the soil moist.

While the leaves of lawns, vegetables, and most flowers demand sunshine, and lots of it, researchers agree that shade on the soil over their roots is good for practically all plants. At first glance this might seem a difficult prescription to fill, but it can be done by covering the soil with a mulch. The latest argument in behalf of mulching is that it prevents erosion. A recent government bulletin says: "Raindrops come hurtling out of the sky and hit the soil so hard that the soil is splashed up on your lettuce. Scientists have measured the splash and found that it may be as high as two feet. Then, the detached soil may be carried off in the water which has accumulated from the rain. Or, those fine particles of soil in the water will settle down into the pores of the soil and fill them up. That will prevent the water soaking into the soil as rapidly as it should. When water doesn't soak into the soil it accumulates on the surface and ultimately has to flow somewhere."

"Happily, there is something the average gardener can do about raindrop or splash erosion. He can put a mulch on his garden. All of us would like to have enough straw to put a layer of three or four inches over the garden. But, often, we can't get the straw or its costs too much. But, we can take the mowings from around the edge of the garden and put them between the rows. Later the lawn clippings can be spread out between the rows. An hour or so spent with a hand sickle cutting down weeds and spreading them in the rows will pay handsomely."

"Men who have gardened for years, but who were not taught to use mulches continuously, express surprise at what a wonderful help they have at last found. It prevents the raindrop erosion by intercepting the raindrops and leads the water down to the soil gently. It keeps the weeds down and lowers the soil temperature in the hot summer days and helps conserve the moisture which goes into the soil."

Paper mulch, and even stones and slabs of concrete have been experimented with. But tests by the Ohio state experiment station, emphasizing the importance of soil aeration, indicate that the best mulching materials allow free circulation of air through the top eight inches of soil.

Mulches of fresh organic material, such as manure, straw, alfalfa, peat moss, lawn clippings and others, stabilize the granular structure of soils and prevent surface compaction.

Waste lumber is used by some gardeners, to shade the ground between rows. By laying down boards when planting the garden, and walking on them rather than the soil, the ground is kept loose, and by shifting the boards between rows, weeds can be killed without hoeing.

Excellent results can be obtained from a heavy mulch of dry lawn clippings, applied a little at a time. The first application should be well mixed with the top soil; and then it may be built up to several inches in thickness, so that weeds are kept down and evaporation checked, but at the same time rains are allowed to penetrate the soil. Tomatoes especially like a mulch of this kind.

FACTS ABOUT GRAPE ROT

Black rot causes heavier losses of grapes in this part of the country than all other grape diseases combined. Too, this trouble is prevalent every year. Yet, despite the fact that growers are well acquainted with the problem, also that the methods of control are not complex or costly, black rot continues year after year to exact a burdensome toll.

The disease lives over winter as dormant spores in and on old mummified grapes left on the vines or covered by letter near the plants. And perhaps many of the organisms remain attached to the fallen leaves. These spores begin to infect the new growth soon after shoots are formed. They may damage foliage but by far their major damage is suffered by the growing fruits, usually first seen as a decay before grapes are fully grown.

Soon after grapes are about half grown, slight, light-brown, circular spots appear on the berries, increasing rapidly in size and often infecting the entire grape in two or three days. So quickly does the destructive fungus multiply that the infected grape may begin to dry and shrivel within a week to 10 days after the first evidences of infection.

Two important facts must be stressed about black rot control. First, the fungi cannot be controlled after the grape shows symptoms of decay or even the early spotting. The best time to destroy these rot-producing organisms is in early spring when grape shoots are two to six inches long. Then two or three applications of Bordeaux mixture will greatly reduce rot dangers.

Second, burning or spading under deeply before winter all grape debris not only prevents survival of rot-causing spores over winter but will reduce other common grape dangers, such as mildew, the grape leaf-foller, grape-berry moth, and minor diseases and insects.

Most state and federal advice on grape spraying recommends DDT. Of course, this insecticide is effective only against insects and it in no way reduces rot dangers. The editor remains firm in his belief that DDT is far too dangerous and its cumulative effects against human and animal health are not yet sufficiently known to warrant its use on any food crops. Therefore, when chewing insects are to be combated on grape vines, we advise lead arsenate or rotenone, with nicotine sulfate for killing sap-sucking insects.

At this late date comparatively little can be done to reduce black rot ravages, as has already been explained. But growers who have not sprayed their vines at all this season should make an application of 2-3-50 Bordeaux mixture at once, adding lead arsenate at the rate of one-fourth pound to 10 gallons of spray or about 1½ level tablespoonsful to each gallon.

Spraying the foliage with rotenone will help solve the Japanese beetle problem. Bagging the clusters with ordinary paper bags will reduce losses from the grape-berry moth larva.

Whenever dark brown aphids infest young grape shoots they should be killed off promptly by spraying them with Black Leaf 40 in soapy water. Effectiveness of this insecticide depends on coating the lice, not merely the foliage on which they feed. Black Leaf 40 may be added to any of the Bordeaux mixture applications made for black rot control.

NEW FACTS ABOUT BLUEBERRIES

The first commercial shipment of improved blueberries was made in 1916. Since that date, based mainly on research conducted by the accredited "father" of this delectable fruit, the late F. V. Coville, blueberry culture has spread throughout areas over the United States where soils and climatic conditions are favorable for productive growth. Of course, as with most other so-called new food crops, improvements in methods of planting and care occur quite frequently.

Most failures with the improved blueberry result from lack of soil acidity. Few garden and farm soils are sufficiently acid to promote vigorous growth. Not only will this plant fail to bear in alkaline soil, but it dies in many cases. Therefore, the grower's major task is to make the soil adequately acid before planting and keep it that way throughout the plant's bearing life.

Woods loam, preferably from where hardwood leaves have decayed, is an excellent substitute for ordinary alkaline garden loams. The best growth occurs where the acidity ranges between pH4.3 and 4.8. This, as most farmers and gardeners know, is considered quite strongly acid. Fine sulfur may be worked into the rooting soil before planting or around the plants later to lower the pH value. Using ammonium sulfate (instead of nitrate of soda) as nitrogenous fertilizer also tends toward a lower degree of acidity.

Since the use of sawdust has become widely popular as a mulch, several garden growers write the editor to report that fairly fresh sawdust contributes acidity and at the same time makes one of the best mulches to keep the soil cool and moist. Of course, this practice eliminates the need for cultivation. More nitrogen must be supplied to offset that taken from

Harrisburg Riding Club To See 'Field

Seven members of a Harrisburg riding club plus six local horsemen Saturday began a horseback tour of the area that ended Sunday.

The seven Harrisburg men, Dr. Harry Kirkpatrick, Clyde Smith, Herbert Meyer, Vance Coover, Charles Stewa, B. R. Hoppe and David Kohn, and the local men, Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, the host to the group; Ray M. Hoffman, John S. Rice, Edward Read Jr. and LeRoy H. Winebrenner, traveled over the bridge path to the Emmitsburg Road on Saturday, then continued to Emmitsburg by way of Rothaupt's Mill. After lunch at Emmitsburg they returned by way of the Bullfrog Road and Water Works to Gettysburg. Sunday, they traveled the bridge paths on the Battlefield.

Workmen on the battlefield, under direction of Dr. J. Walter Coleman, placed the paths on the field in order for the year's activities in time for the riding club trip.

the soil by the organisms that decompose the sawdust. Usually slightly less than one-half pound of ammonium sulfate per bush should be applied, not closer than 8 inches of the plant base.

Michigan growers have somewhat dissipated the earlier theory that improved blueberry plants require pollen from another variety to "set" the fruit. There "solid" blocks of Rubel and Jersey have produced heavy crops. However, in home garden plantings it is still a wise course to set two rows of the favorite variety and then one row of another variety to cross-pollinate the blossoms.

Growers in widely separated regions apparently are seeking ways to multiply their plantings without buying new nursery stock. Use of both hardwood and greenwood cuttings is proving successful. Hardwood cuttings should be taken while the plant is dormant, preferably in late winter - 4 to 5 inches long of shoots of the previous summer's growth, the upper end cut just above a bud, the lower just below a bud. These are rooted in coldframes, hotbeds or greenhouses in the spring.

Greenwood cuttings should be taken soon after the secondary growth is well started from the new shoots. They are made about 4 inches long, with only two tip leaves retained and these are generally cut to half to reduce transpiration. Cuttings are rooted in sand in a shaded coldframe under glass.

Beginners should plan blueberry plantings by preparing soils this summer and planting cutting plants or nursery stock in early spring. In the meantime all needed information may be obtained by writing the editor.

RANDOM NOTES ON RHUBARB

Rhubarb requires a long period throughout summer months to store strength in its roots for the next year's growth. This strength is manufactured in the leaves. Therefore, to keep rhubarb clumps vigorous and highly productive, also to extend the years of bearing life, no stalks should be harvested after the latter part of June. Many experienced gardeners make their last cutting the final week in June. Experienced commercial growers follow a practice of eight weeks of harvesting, computing the cutting season from date of first harvested stalks.

It is advisable to feed the clumps quite liberally soon after the cutting period ends. Well rotted barnyard manure and about a pound of complete fertilizer may be lightly cultivated into the surrounding soil of each large clump. If the season is dry from early July on until fall, mulching with grass clippings or immature weeds proves beneficial. Fertilizer near a 5-10-5 or 4-12-4 strength will serve in this role. One pound of nitrate of soda mixed with every three or four pounds of the complete fertilizer may provide the additional nitrogen rhubarb needs.

Perhaps the most harmful practice in growing this vegetable is to allow seed stalks to develop. These greatly weaken the clumps and should be cut out whenever they appear. It is seldom advisable to attempt to grow rhubarb from seed, hence there is no excuse for allowing this needless waste of plant strength in late summer.

The rhubarb weevil, correctly listed by many writers as rhubarb curculio, may attack the plants in this region. It is easily identified as a yellow-dusted beetle about half an inch in length, equipped with a prominent snout. Oozing drops of sap indicate places of puncture. Do not permit wild dock to grow near rhubarb because the weevil breeds in dock clumps. Hand-pick the pests whenever they are present.

Foot rot, sometimes called crown rot, occurs in many Central and Eastern states. Leaves wilt over and sunken, brownish spots are found at the stalk base, followed often by a soft decay. Unless infected clumps are dug up and burned this fungous disease may spread rapidly. If foot rot is present, remaining clumps should be sprayed liberally into the crowns with Bordeaux mixture as soon as the cutting season ends. Spraying earlier would be desirable if it did not cause unsightly spots on the stalks. Of course, this spotting is objectionable only when stalks are marketed. It does not impair them for home use. In obtaining crown divisions for starting new plantings, care should be exercised to avoid clumps infected by foot rot.

Rhubarb is one of the most healthful of all garden crops. It should be grown for immediate table use throughout the cutting season and for canning to carry its nutritive benefits around the remainder of the year. Because of its acid content, rhubarb does not require pressure canning.

A deeply mellow, well drained, fertilizer loam in a sunny location are the chief points in planting plans. Nursery roots or divisions from old clumps should be planted as early in the spring as soil and weather conditions permit.

The editor will furnish interested readers a copy of our rhubarb planting and care instructions or request.

ROCKEFELLER ROMANCE SAGS

LOWELL, Ind. (AP)—A week-end of recriminations over money traced his picture in the ashes of a one-time "fairy tale" romance:

Mrs. Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller, honey-haired "Cinderella" bride of a millionaire four years ago, still loves her estranged husband, Winthrop, and hopes for a reconciliation.

In New York, Winthrop spoke through an attorney. His prepared statement said he is anxious for "the companionship of his son" and eager to make a financial "arrangement to assure" it—nothing about love or reconciliation.

Rockefeller announced through lawyer Timothy N. Pfeiffer that he had set up a million dollar trust fund for his son, born in September, 1948.

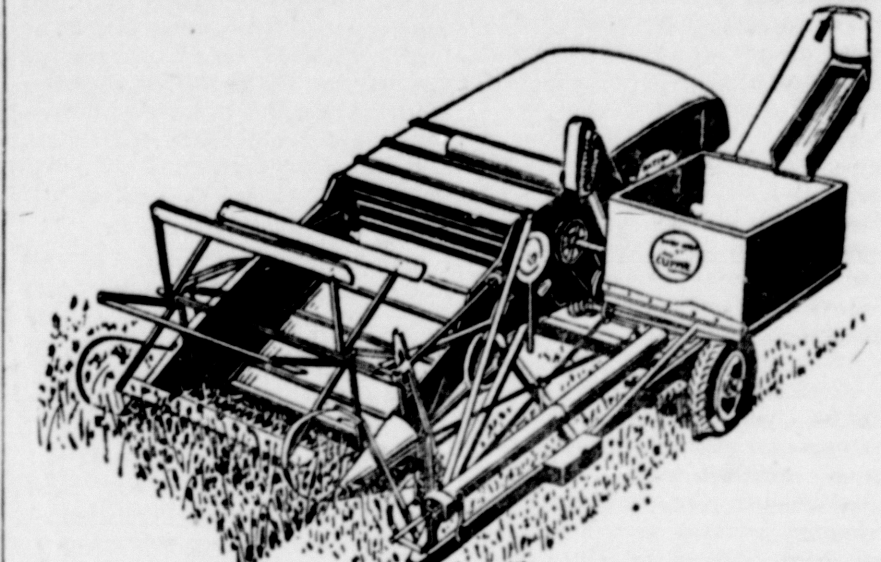

Pfeiffer said the trust fund was set up after "repeated but unsuccessful attempts to discuss" the boy's financial future and custody with Mrs. Rockefeller.

WOULD LIMIT TROOPS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) Friday announced a new drive to ban sending troops to Europe without the consent of Congress.

The Iowa senator, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, told a reporter he believed the German Peace treaties could be interpreted as giving the President powers to send more troops abroad at his will.

BIBLE SCHOOL

Two hundred and seventy-one children were enrolled in the Daily Vacation Bible School which was conducted for eight days and closed on Friday. The program for each day consisted of a worship period in Centenary Methodist Church in charge of the Rev. Harvey B. Simons; teaching of Bible lessons, crafts, songs and group games. Sessions were held from 9 to 11 o'clock in the public grade school building. The school was sponsored by the Littlestown Ministerium and the Rev. G. Howard Koons, president of the Ministerium, served as dean. Mrs. Edwin W. Elder Jr. was pianist and Miss Marilyn Spangler was registrar, assisted by Miss Diane Stambaugh.

On the closing day, a program was held at 10 o'clock in Redeemer's Reformed Church with parents and friends of the boys and girls in attendance. The program included group songs, finger plays, recitations and questions and answers respectively by the different classes. On Friday afternoon, a party was held including group games and refreshments were served on the community playground.

STATE AIR HUNT FOR OAK WILT TO BE BEGUN HERE

The Commonwealth starts the first trial runs in an airplane hunt for oak wilt today with a survey of Adams County, weather permitting. State Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst announced Friday.

"Operation oak wilt" gets into full swing the first week in July and will continue all summer. Three planes, each containing trained observers, will weave back and forth over farms and forests of the southern tier of Pennsylvania counties. This effort to locate and treat trees infected with a destructive disease that was first discovered in Pennsylvania in September 1950 is made possible through a special appropriation of $50,000 to the State Department of Agriculture by the 1951 Legislature.

The Adams County survey will be county-wide to provide a pattern for operation in other counties. Secretary Horst explained. Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, state entomologist and director of the Bureau of Plant Industry, heads the oak wilt search which will operate with the cooperation of Forests and Waters and the agricultural research and extension services of the Pennsylvania State College. Planes of the State Aeronautics Commission will be used in the survey.

Air Survey Best

During the week of Monday, June 23, an intensive air scout training program will be conducted out of the Harrisburg State Airport for approximately 40 forest rangers. Each will be flown over infested areas that may be found in Adams and adjacent counties, accompanied by a plant disease specialist. The foresters will be briefed for air identification and location of diseased by Rev. Mr. Koons and William Benner; Gold Stars, John Little, Betty Wallick, Shirley Leister, Julie Ann Kammerer, Mary Gail Gouker, Judith Breighner, John Reynolds, Phyllis Eby, Janet Sell, Kenneth Hollinger, Judy Long, Patricia Yingling, Susan Strevig, Robert Nester, Dean Shorb, James Patterson, Galen Kroft and Ernest Spamer; Red Stars, Sally Forry and Gary Maitland.

Intermediate, grade six, seven and eight, taught by the Rev. David S. Kammerer and Miss Dawn Pettyjohn; Gold Stars, Susan Crouse, Richard Horner, Pansy Knight, Francis Miller, John Shomper, Mary Ann Burgoon, Susanne Blocher, Jane Barton, James Barnes, Mary Angstead, Wanda Pettyjohn, John Groft, Marlene Crabbs, Shirley Hoff, Joyce Barnes, Gloria Burgoon, Donna Reaver, Brenda Worley, Mary Ritter, Judy Ruggles and Wayne Miller; Red Stars, Paye Daley, Carolyn Brown, Jesse Sheely and Peggy Miller.

Mark Ladies' Night

Ladies' Night was observed at the June meeting of the Littlestown Castle No. 31, Ancient Order Knights of the Mystic Chain, on Thursday evening in the lodge rooms. A business session preceded the program, which opened with the group singing of "America." The Rev. David S. Kammerer was song leader and also served as master of ceremonies for the occasion. Instrumental music was played throughout the evening. During the fellowship period, strawberries and ice cream were served to approximately 100 members and guests in attendance. The refreshments were provided by a committee composed of Edgar E. Yealy, Donald Currens and Meredith Schwartz. The entertainment committee included James Dutterer, Lewis Lippy and Dennis S. Wallick.

Mrs. Hazel Hess, Mrs. Curvin Hollinger and Mrs. Alma Straley comprise the entertainment and refreshment committee for the June meeting of the Hustlers' Sunday school class of Redeemer's Reformed church on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church social hall.

The members of the Group B, Young Women's Missionary society of St. Paul's Lutheran church will enjoy a swimming party and picnic at Meadow View Park, near Union Mills, on Monday evening. The group will leave at 6:30 p.m. from the home of Evelyn Dickinson, Lumber St. Each member will provide her own lunch.

LADY'S STOMACH WAS LIKE A GAS FACTORY;
MEALS TURNED TO GAS

One Gettysburg lady said recently that her stomach used to be like a "gas factory." That is, when she ate a meal it seemed to turn right into gas. She was always bloated, had awful stomach gas pains, daily headaches and terribly nervous. Now, however, this lady says she is FREE of STOMACH GAS, and she says the change is due to taking SYS-TONE. Her meals agree with her. No gas or bloating after eating. Headaches and nervousness are gone. "Oh what relief!" states this lady. "Why don't other gas and nervous sufferers get Sys-Tone?"

SYS-TONE is new. Contains 10 Herbs with Nature's Minerals and Vitamins. It is like several medicines in one! Clears out gas, builds up weak nerves, enriches blood. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get SYS-TONE — Peoples Drug Store.

trees later in their respective areas. Ground crews of foresters then will locate infested areas for treatment.

Oak wilt is caused by a fungus that kills the tree but the method of spread has not yet been identified other than through crossed root system. Small clumps of diseased trees have been found in a dozen scattered areas over the state in the past two years. Oak wilt cannot be seen from the air or ground until diseased leaves begin to turn a lighter shade of green. Air surveys are considered best for identification purposes, Horst said.

Retired Steel Head
Assails CIO Union

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Irving S. Oids, retired board chairman of U. S. Steel Corporation Saturday defended the stand of the nation's steel industries in opposing compulsory union membership of their employees.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the commencement exercises of Drexel Institute of Technology which conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, Oids attacked the CIO United Steelworkers.

Oids declared "the price which the union demands for peace and production in the steel industry is the surrender of freedom—the freedom of our workers to join or not to join a labor organization."

He added: "Already the steel companies have been forced to accept the union shop contract in their coal mines and on many of their railroads; but if they surrender now to the union on this issue, freedom of association will no longer exist anywhere in the steel industry."

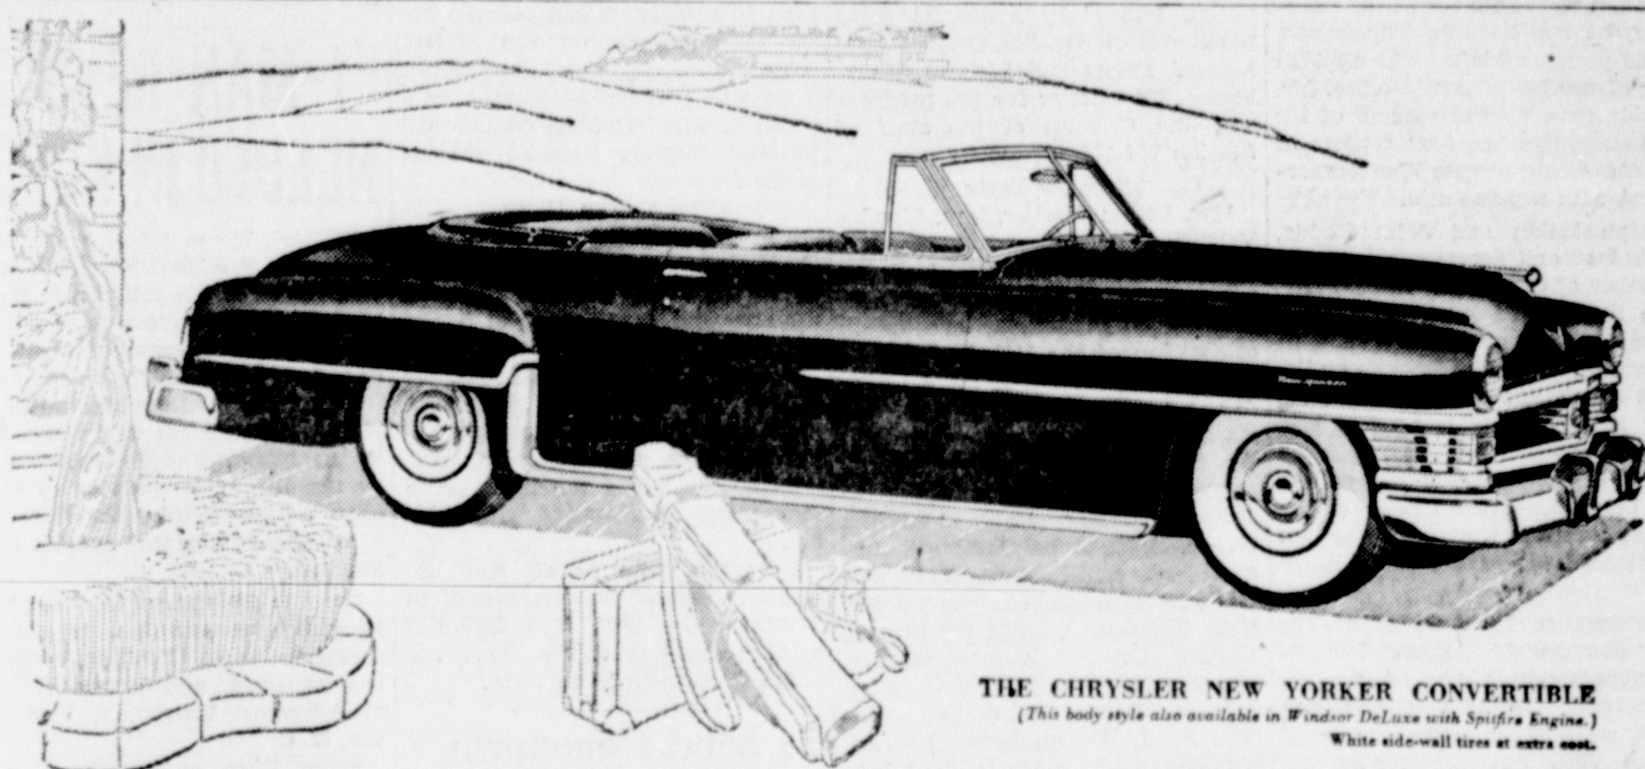

EX-MAYOR DIES

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Dr. Herbert Spencer Arthur, former mayor of McKeesport and a practicing physician, died Thursday at his home in nearby Fort Loudon.

He was 73. He also was vice president and director of the Daily News Publishing Co. of McKeesport and was president of the Massillon Steel Casting Co., Massillon, Ohio.

NAZARETH, Pa. (AP)—Three plants of the Penn Dixie Cement Corp. were struck on Friday following a breakdown of negotiations between company and union officials. Some 600 workers are involved in the dispute at the three plants. One is situated in Nazareth, one in Bath and the third between the two Northampton County communities.

Nevada has a population of 91,000, the smallest in the nation.

THE CHRYSLER NEW YORKER CONVERTIBLE
(This body style also available in Windsor Deluxe with Spiffia Engine.)
White side-wall tires at extra cost.

ITS ENGINE ADDS MUSCLE TO EVERY DROP OF GAS!

To many owners, the mighty 180 H.P. V-8 engine that powers the Chrysler New Yorker is the most remarkable feature of this remarkable car. It is certainly the most discussed automobile engine in many, many years.

This is the engine with hemispherical combustion chambers... the engine that gets more power out of every drop of gas. And non-premium gas at that!

Actually, it puts you in control of more power than you'll probably ever need use. You'll sense this... together with its unequalled response... the very first yards you drive. It runs smoother, more quietly, and with less wear than any other engine ever built into an American automobile.

... and it makes driving (both cruising and the short runs) more fun than you have ever known it to be!

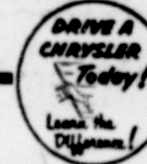

But that's not all. Along with this engine there are scores of other reasons, too, for driving a New Yorker before resolving on any new car. Like Full-time Power Steering that makes steering five times easier... and your control five times greater... than in ordinary cars. Like Power Brakes that cut needed pedal pressure by as much as two-thirds.

Like Oriflow shock absorbers that make even bad roads feel "newly paved"... restful chair-high seats... big, wide-opening doors... big windows that let you see more.

It's true... until you drive a Chrysler New Yorker you won't know what you're missing. Why not stop in today?

Emmitsburg TOWN OFFICIALS ON TV PROGRAM

On Friday afternoon a "Salute to Emmitsburg" program was televised over Station WAAM, Channel 13, Baltimore, from 3 to 4 p. m.

First to be interviewed on the program were Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers and James Shields, a descendant of the pioneer Shields family, who is now residing in Harrisburg. Mayor Rodgers stated that although he was a native of Baltimore, he has lived in Emmitsburg for 50 years and is now in his 17th year of service in public office. Mr. Shields gave a brief resume of his relationship to the first settlers of this community. Jasper Wantz entertained with a piano solo.

Ralph Irelan and John Roddy, president and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, respectively, were interviewed next. Mr. Irelan spoke of the many vacation spots in the community with emphasis on the "best trout streams in Maryland" near Emmitsburg. Mr. Roddy, also registrar at Mt. St. Mary's, mentioned the founding of the college and brought out the beauty of the college location. Miss Ann Warthen entertained with a toe dance number.

Commander Fern Ohler of the VFW Post and Mrs. Robert Daugherty appeared next to be interviewed. Commander Ohler enumerated briefly some of the accomplishments of the VFW Post mentioning the excellence ambulance service available to residents of Emmitsburg and vicinity made possible through the VFW, and the memorial playground just recently dedicated. Mrs. Daugherty had a number of old pictures which were shown. They included scenes of the old "Fountain on the Square," the inside and outside of the old "Stone Church" near town, bicycling days in nearby mountains and pictures of the "Cornet Band and Redmen's Lodge" believed to be between 65 and 70 years old, also the first students of the Emmitsburg High School.

Next on the program was Richard Frock with the vocal selection "Because."

Arthur Elder, president of the Lions Club and editor of the Emmitsburg Chronicle, with chairman of the board of town commissioners, Col. Thomas Fraley, were interviewed next. Mr. Elder spoke chiefly of the activities of the Lions Club while Colonel Fraley commented on the exceptional educational and religious advantages presented in such a small community.

Guy Baker Jr. entertained with the singing of "The Bells of St. Mary's."

Mr. Roddy then introduced Emmitsburgians who were in the audience. Each rose as Mr. Roddy called his name and they were flashed briefly on the screen. The program ended with the vocal number "Whispering Winds" by a quartet composed of Doris Wastler, Carrie Hahn, Edward Peters and Richard Stambaugh. Interviewer for the program was Jim Cribbins of the staff of Station WAAM.

Surprise Party

Mrs. Lester Wastler, Mrs. Charles Valentine and Mrs. Roy Sanders were hostesses at a surprise birthday party given at the home of Mrs. Sanders on Wednesday evening in celebration of the 18th birthday of Miss Doris Wastler. A large birthday cake decorated in pink and white formed the centerpiece for the table. Games were played and refreshments were served to: Shirley Troxell, Carrie Hahn, Virginia Wantz, Ruth Umbel, Robbie Stone-sifer, Betty Smith, Margie Crist, Sue Hays, Darlene Brewer, Jean Troxell, Mary Rohrbaugh, Catherine Brewer, Thelma Green, Carolyn Wastler, Nancy and Judy Valentine, James Sanders, Robert Rohrbaugh, William Boyd, Warren Bentz, Richard Stambaugh, John Davis, Jack McGlaughlin, Euclid Jones, Ira Ambrose, Richard Frock, Clifton Liller, Carroll Frock, Jr., Jasper Wantz, David and Wayne Sanders, Mrs. Lester Wastler, Mrs. Charles Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Moser, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sanders.

206 PAGE EDITION

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A 206-page special edition was published Saturday by the Bloomsburg Morning Press in observance of the paper's 50th anniversary and the town's sesqui-centennial. The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association said it was the largest in the journalistic history of Pennsylvania.

GROMYKO GOES TO LONDON POST AS AMBASSADOR

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, famed for his deadpan walkouts at United Nations meetings, is Russia's new ambassador to Britain.

The Kremlin announcement also confirmed earlier unofficial reports that Georgi Zarubin, Russian envoy to London for more than five years, would become Soviet ambassador to the United States.

He will succeed Alexander Pan-yushkin, who has been transferred to head the big Russian mission in Red China.

Not A Step Down

The appointment of the poker-faced Gromyko to the London post is not necessarily a step down for the one-time boy wonder of Soviet diplomacy.

By assigning Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's right-hand man to London, the Russians apparently are attempting to spotlight to the world the importance they place on relations with Britain.

Gromyko, who is 43, was appointed second-in-command to Vishinsky in 1949. Top Kremlin leaders are believed to have the greatest confidence in him.

To Send Hometown Broadcasts Abroad

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pennsylvania men and women serving Uncle Sam overseas soon will be getting a new kind of message from home.

Forty-three Pennsylvania cities and towns are planning special radio broadcasts to carry familiar hometown sounds to military personnel all over the world.

The nostalgic series, part of Pennsylvania's participation in a "Way Back Home" program, will start Sunday, Aug. 17, and continue daily.

Communities planning presentations include Kittanning, Latrobe, Johnstown, Sayre, Lock Haven, Butler, Beaver Falls, Carbondale, DuBois, Chambersburg, Lemoyne, Coatesville, Clearfield, Indiana, McKeesport, Easton, Red Lion, Gettysburg, Bethlehem, Homestead, Shamokin, St. Marys, Sunbury, New Castle, Carlisle, Norristown, Pottsville, Sharon, Chester and Williamstown.

Hydrant Volume Shown By Paint

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis. (AP)—This city has painted its fire hydrants so firemen can tell at a glance how much water to expect from the water main.

The color of the paint shows the size of the main. The colors red, white and blue painted on the hydrant cap denote 4-, 6- and 8-inch mains respectively. Hydrants painted all yellow are connected to 10-inch mains while green hydrants indicate 12-inch mains.

Hens Get Around To Larger Eggs

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—At first the hens laid no eggs at all and then all of a sudden one Rhode Island Red laid two king-sized eggs.

The hens, the property of Mrs. Eisner McCollough, were fed growing mash for the first two months and laying mash for the next six. Nothing happened so Mrs. McCollough switched to feeding them corn and table scraps. The hens started laying normal-sized eggs until the recent oversized ones showed up.

The bigger of the two measured 2 1/4 inches in length, 7 1/4 in length-wise circumference and 6 1/4 in circumference at the larger end. It weighed 100 grams.

49 Women Want To Meet Marrying Man

ROCKPORT, Ind. (AP)—Forty-nine women are interested in meeting a former Rockport man who says he is coming back to look for a wife and will bestow $28,000 upon her.

The Rockport Democrat published a letter from Jesse L. Garrett, 49, who now lives at Scott Depot, W. Va. He outlined the qualifications for a woman to mother his two sons. He was divorced recently.

Since publishing the letter the weekly newspaper has received 45 letters, three telephone calls and one telegram for the wife-hunter.

"1-MAN REVOLT" NEEDED IN KOREA

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—An American advisor to President Syngman Rhee said Saturday the solution to South Korea's political crisis is to let the aged president proceed with his "one man revolution."

Dr. Paul F. Douglas, called to Korea by Rhee six weeks ago, said in an interview open intervention by the United Nations could cause open warfare behind the lines and a collapse of the war against communism.

Rhee is determined to change the Republic's constitution, illegally if necessary, said Douglas, onetime newspaperman and former president of American University, Washington, D. C.

Since Rhee enjoys the support of his people, Douglas said, the U.N. cannot afford to intervene, or pull back its support of the regime.

The U.S. and other U.N. members already have protested Rhee's actions as threats to democracy. The president last month declared martial law around Pusan and arrested 12 opposition National Assemblymen in his feud with the Assembly over the method of electing the president.

DRIVERS LICENSES REVOKED
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Drivers licenses of 1,428 Minnesotans were revoked during the first three months of this year. Drunken-driving conviction caused 550 drivers to lose their permits.

The youngest president ever inaugurated was Theodore Roosevelt at 42, and the oldest, William Harrison at 68.

BAREHEAD FAD SCARES PARIS "HAT-MAKERS"

PARIS (AP)—French hat-makers are facing the darkest times their industry has known since Marie Antoinette dealt them a low blow by popularizing towering hatless hairdos in the 18th Century.

That time, the crisis blew over and women went back to wearing hats as enthusiastically as ever. This time, encouraged by history's example, the hat makers have organized to try to stem the tide of hatlessness which engulfs them.

Modern hat makers blame the war for getting women in the habit of going bareheaded. Some blame the bad example set by American tourists, who often manage to look chic without hats.

Time was when no Paris housewife would have set foot on the street without being properly hat-dressed and gloved, even if she were only on her way to the baker for a loaf. The hat-makers, backed up by fashion dictators, still sternly insist that a woman of style should never be seen dead without a chapeau. You might as well step out without shoes as to be bareheaded in public, they hint darkly.

But, faced by statistics and dwindling sales, the hat makers' syndicate must sadly admit that times have changed. Among the crowds that stroll down the Champs-Elysees in warm weather, hardly more than one woman in ten wears a hat.

If the public has decided that hats are frivolities and not necessities, the hat designers themselves are at least partly at fault, admits Monsieur Paul Gallien, secretary-general of the hat makers' syndicate.

By bringing out mad creations that nobody could possibly take seriously, they have literally outsmarted themselves, of course. It's the daffy chapeau that always gets splashed in the papers, but a hat that people can laugh at does the industry a disservice, Monsieur Gallien.

Another boomerang launched by the hat makers themselves is the idea that hat styles must change completely every season. Every woman knows that last year's bonnet is as demode as a last year's bird's nest. But when the budget is tight, the result may be that a hat is knocked off in favor of something that lasts longer than a season.

Women who thus lose the habit of hat-wearing may be a headache to the hat makers, but their worst worry, according to Monsieur Gallien, is the younger generation's scornful attitude towards headgear.

"Just think of it — some of them have never owned a hat!"

When the Duchess of Windsor was photographed not long ago wearing only a net over her hair, some hat-makers howled. But Monsieur Gallien thinks they can no longer afford to quibble. "Even a net or flowers is better than nothing at all. We're willing to count nearly anything worn on the head as a hat."

The beret, in its myriad disguises, is far the most popular headgear for both sexes in France. It has almost come to be a symbol of the Frenchman, but its hold on the country does not go back as far as most people imagine. Part of the Basque native dress, it only spread to the rest of France some twenty years ago, replacing the workman's traditional cloth cap.

Part of the beret's popular appeal is the fact that it can be found to fit any pocketbook — from the workman's cheap felt model to the bejeweled velvet cocktail number for the wealthy woman of fashion.

In all, some 4,000 new hat models are launched every year by Paris' twenty "modistes" (custom hat makers, as opposed to "chapeauxiers" who turn out wholesale reproductions). Hat seasons precede dress seasons by about a week, to take advantage of foreign buyers' presence.

Last year the "chapeauxiers" did fifteen billion francs worth of business, and the "modistes" annual sales amounted to seventeen billions (both figures include exports). This is an improvement over the earlier post-war years.

MODEL 48D (illustrated)
Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

WE put the price of this Buick in big type because we're proud of it.

It's the price of the six-passenger, two-door SPECIAL—ready to roll.

When you put this price against the local delivered prices of other cars that folks usually associate with Buick — you'll have a hard time finding a single one as low.

When you put this price against what you'll pay for cars with the reputation of being "lower priced" — you'll find why this Buick gives them such keen competition.

And—if you want to go in for extras—you can still add up what goes on the bill of sale of other cars and a Buick—you'll find out that Buick's an even greater buy.

We know that price is important to a lot of folks, especially with the price of groceries—and even baby shoes—where they are today.

But you also want some fun for your money—and that's where a Buick really shines.

Just wait till you give a gentle nudge to the power that's under that big, broad hood and feel your shoulders sink back as this beauty takes off.

You'll feel like the million dollars it cost to perfect its ride, when you sample the steady smoothness of its gait.

It's eager, alert, alive—makes each mile a new experience.

Want to try it? Why not? We're willing to let this beautiful bundle of high-powered energy speak for itself.

SHOULDN'T TRY TO PIN IKEDOWN ON ALL ISSUES

Raymond Pitcairn, early supporter of Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican nomination for President, conferred with the General at his farm on Friday.

Pitcairn, widely known attorney and politician, was one of the Americans for Eisenhower movement, met Eisenhower following the latter's conference with the Pennsylvania delegation.

Pitcairn issued a statement in which he criticized opposition for "badgering" Eisenhower with questions on "every conceivable subject."

Recalls Lincoln Story
Pitcairn's statement follows: "Many years ago it was said by Abraham Lincoln that 'our Government rests in public opinion.' Lincoln paid more than lip service to this fundamental principle of democracy—that the people can be trusted, in the long run, to determine their own destinies. He was a man of deep humility. He never claimed to know all the answers to the nation's problems, but said of his own great duties and responsibilities, 'I have simply tried to do what seemed best each day.'

"An anecdote related in Sandburg's 'Abraham Lincoln' illustrates how America's greatest statesman thought of a President's responsibilities in matters of policy.

"Insistent demands had been made that he lay down a program, state his position and give his answers to the grave problems that beset the nation. Those who doubted Lincoln's ability accused him scornfully of vacillation and indecision. His refusal before taking office to commit himself on certain issues on which public opinion was seriously divided brought bitter accusation that he had neither plan nor policy to meet the crises that threatened to destroy the Union.

Man Without A Policy
"After he became President, Lincoln received a visitor, John M. Palmer, whom he had known in Illinois. They were old and understanding friends and the interview went on while Lincoln was being shaved. As they discussed old times, Palmer said jokingly: 'Mr. Lincoln, if anybody had told me that in a great crisis the people were going to go out to a little one-horse town and pick up a one-horse lawyer for President, I wouldn't have believed it.'

"Lincoln rose up, lather on his face, and Palmer feared he was displeased. But the President put a hand on Palmer's knee. 'Neither would I,' he said, 'but it was a time when a man with a policy would have been fatal to the country. I have never had a policy. I have simply tried to do what seemed best each day.'

"What Kind Of President?"
"Is it possible or believable that a man without a policy can be a wise, firm and competent President of the United States? The career and achievements of the great Abraham Lincoln answer the question.

"This is again a time of grave crisis for the nation. The country is threatened by an enemy which rules its people with an iron hand of relentless policy. Our most cherished institutions are endangered by men who know what they want and have no scruples in attaining it. What kind of President might best guide and lead the American people in these perilous times?

"James Reston gave the answer, half in jest, in a recent article. 'If any candidate for President in this country candidly admitted some day that he was sorry, but he did not have all the answers to all the questions confronting the human race, he might be swept into office by the common sense of a grateful electorate.'

"It was the will of the people expressed in the common sense of the electorate which Lincoln so deeply respected.

"Disreputable Spectacle"
"Today the American people are witnessing an extraordinary and somewhat disreputable spectacle. A candidate for the presidency, a man of high character and honorable record, is being badgered and beset to answer questions on every conceivable subject in politics, economics, international affairs and social relations. General Eisenhower is even followed around the country by a sound-truck demanding categorical replies to one of his opponent's twenty-one questions, many of them immaterial to the real issues before the American people and some verging on the ridiculous.

"It is time to remember and respect Lincoln's opinion—that in times of real crisis a man with a hard-and-fast policy can be 'fatal to the country.' Lincoln had no preconceived policy with which to meet unforeseeable circumstances. He did have a keen and abiding sense of justice, a knowledge of life and government, a humble faith in principle, and firmness in the right as God gave him to see the right as he applied himself to problems demanding his decision.

"Never in the country's history had events called for such wisdom and patience in a leader. Through it all Lincoln endured the opposition of bitter critics and powerful enemies in the North, as the well as in the confederacy. Always he admitted that he could not answer all their questions, nor foresee solutions which must needs be determined as events progressed.

"Lincoln's real policy was to deal with situations according to his training in the wisdom of the Common Law, which does not—'legislate for the future.' It deals with actual existing cases, formulating the decisions and applying the light of truth to problems as they arise, and handling situations as they develop.

"Even in our national sport the batter is not expected to decide in advance how he will handle the ball which will be pitched to him. His decision will be made when he sees what kind of ball is coming.

"If it were reasonable to decide arbitrarily in advance of the event the human issues involving constitutional questions of public policy, the Chief Justice of the United States might confer with his associates and declare just what labor and management may do. But even in the light of the event, aided by their knowledge of the law and by hearings of the parties to the controversy, the Supreme Court is not infrequently divided five to four.

"So the statesman's decisions for the public weal, like those of every one of us, are not governed by exact science or dogmatic foresight. They are guided by just principles applied in solution of the art of living—applied wisely or foolishly, constructively or destructively, according to the character of the statesman or of the individual involved.

People Ready To Trust "Ike"
"The American people are in the mood today to applaud, approve and follow a man who approaches the duties of the presidential office with humility, promising no more than Abraham Lincoln, who 'tried to do what seemed best each day.'

"They are distrustful of self-appointed prophets and planners who try to impose the pattern of their own judgment upon the destinies of nations and their fellow men. 'They know that the most unfortunate and unhappy peoples in the world today are ruled by men who make all the pains and know all the answers.'

"They are willing and eager, in great majority, to trust a man whose competence, wisdom and patience in the time of crisis and moment of decision have been proved and tested—Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Theodore Roosevelt once said, "In the Whitehouse you do not live; you are just Exhibit A."

REBEKAHS DINE AT LITTLESTOWN

Approximately 130 were in attendance at the annual banquet of the Mary Gettys Rebekah Lodge No. 105 of Gettysburg Friday evening in the social hall of Redeemer's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Littlestown.

The program presented opened with group singing led by Mrs. Betty Zumbum with Mrs. Naomi C. Schwartz serving as piano accompanist; invocation given by Mrs. Helen Myers; Mrs. Esther Reindollar, who acted as toastmistress, introduced Mrs. Marie Stevens, noble grand, who extended greetings to the group; vocal selections, "Softly As in the Morning Sunrise" from "New Moon," and "Love Is Where You Find It," sung by Mrs. Betty Zumbum, accompanied by Ferree LeFevre; remarks by Miss Beulah Purney, vice grand.

Mrs. Reindollar then presented Arthur E. Blair, Littlestown, who addressed the group. The program continued with several vocal duets, "The Desert Song" from the opera of the same name; "The Rosary" and "When Day Is Done," sung by Miss Dolores Rae Reindollar and Ferree LeFevre, accompanied by Mrs. Zumbum; two humorous readings were given by Roy Hann. The entertainment was concluded with a skit entitled "Sewing for the Heavens" presented with the following participating: Mrs. Naomi Schwartz, Mrs. Louella Forry, Mrs. Daisy Wierman, Mrs. Dorothy Sprigg, Mrs. Effie Benner, Mrs. Dora Garlach, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Tawney, Mrs. Lucy Hann and Mrs. Helen Myers. The program for the affair was arranged by a committee consisting of Mrs. Esther Reindollar, chairman, Mrs. Naomi Schwartz, Mrs. Daisy Wierman, Mrs. Dorothy Sprigg, Mrs. Dora Garlach, Mrs. Lucy Hann and Mrs. Helen Myers.

Prior to the program, a baked ham supper was served by the Ladies' Aid Society of Redeemer's Church. A pink and green color scheme was

Many Reporters Travel With General

Among the reporters here Friday for the Eisenhower reception were men who came from New York with Eisenhower and accompanied the general to Detroit. They probably will remain with the candidate until the Chicago Convention.

In the group were: Harold Brown of the New York Herald Tribune; Larry Martin of the Denver Post; Vance Johnson of the San Francisco Chronicle; Thomas O'Neill of the Baltimore Sun; Fred Collins of the Providence Journal; Coleman Frank of the New York News; Rellman "Pat" Morin of the Associated Press; John Reston of the New York Times; Ed Clark of International News Service; Ed Garly of Time magazine; Ed Leahy of the Chicago News; Dick Wilson of the Minneapolis Tribune; Carleton Kent of the Chicago Sun-Times; Robert Albright of the Washington Post; Dave Schoenbgun of Columbia Broadcasting System, and Bill Fulton of the Chicago Tribune.

"Rim Of Steel" Is Guarding Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A rim of steel made up of U. S. Army anti-aircraft guns and troops, protected Pittsburgh Friday from any possible sneak attack by enemy airpower.

The Army disclosed on Thursday that it has completed movement of troops to strategic areas around the Steel City for "close-in" protection. Size of the Army unit was not disclosed.

Col. Robert H. Wood, commanding officer of the 53rd Anti-Aircraft Brigade, said the rim covers every possible air approach to the area's vital defense industries.

carried out in the decorations. Bouquets of rosebuds formed the centerpiece for the dinner tables. The individual favors were made of pink crepe paper attractively formed in the shape of a blooming rose.
